Ten Cents

The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

The Eagleton affair, as tragic as it is, is only symptomatic of conditions that have made cynics of many of us—and especially the young who already had a low opinion of the political establishment.

And in the process it was Jack Anderson, the noted columnist, who did for journalism what the CIA did for the executive branch of the government.

Each, in a separate way, has reduced believability in the nation's press and in the politicians who run the country.

Anderson did it with his self acknowledged mistake concerning vice-presidential nominee Senator Thomas F. Eagleton's drunk-driving habits. And as Eagleton retorted to that charge, it is a "damnable lie."

But Eagleton, too, was guilty of something. That of withholding vital and necessary information in his quest for the second highest office in the land.

The CIA had done it over the years and through several administrations by deliberately planting lies. This led a former secretary of state to admit publicly a few months ago that he thought it was not wrong to lie to the people when it was thought the best interests of the people were being served by lying. That's political gobbledegook of the lowest order. And it's dead wrong.

Traumatic lies and mistakes such as these shake the diminishing hallmarks of faith and trust left in this land of liberty. And the dishonesty psychosis stretches from the top to the bottom. The President, of course, attempts to rise above lying and misdirection although averts the stigma of untruthfulness by permitting a lowly minion to leak misinformation.

It is unfortunate when a renowned newsman spreads misinformation because there is no way to entirely withdraw the error even though a retraction is made and a public apology is given.

This waning trust has made more people cynical regarding the relationship of the press and the bastard child of government, namely, politicians. And it is related to all administrations, regardless of which party is in office.

In all honesty it should be reported that among people of the press the number of dishonest ones is quite small—and it is not the same people who are guilty.

Among politicians, it is different. A high percentage of them suffer from this plague. Maybe it isn't altogether intentional but it comes across as dishonesty regardless of the intent. A small example is the long-promised school tax relief action. For seven years property owning Californians have been promised relief. It was not a promise "to try" but a promise to deliver. The explanation has been "we tried," even when they knew it was not possible. But promises seem to buy votes and winning the office is the game. And lying to win an office is not dishonest in the book of ethics of the politician.

Back to Anderson, Eagleton and newsmen. It was a pair of reporters for the Knight Newspapers' Washington Bureau who spent many days of probing and research to unearth the story of Eagleton's psychiatric problem. They did it because the people had a right to know.

Sifting through rumor and tip, the pair finally located a member of the therapy team at the clinic where Eagleton underwent psychiatric treatment and he would not deny the pair's well-developed story. Because of the importance of their findings on the upcoming presidential election, the pair supplied their material to Frank Mankiewicz, Senator George McGovern's aide. They wanted their well-deserved "scoop" but were willing to let the Democratic top brass privately know about it and comment on it while the two reporters talked to doctors, checked medical records and interviewed Eagleton. They even stayed with Mankiewicz during a weekend in his cabin at a lodge near Custer, S.D. to prevent their research material from leaking out while Mankiewicz arranged the Eagleton interview.

But a top-level meeting, which included Eagleton and McGovern had been hastily called and instead of honoring the reporters confidence, Mankiewicz announced a press conference.

RATIONALE—A bar-stool observer claimed Mankiewicz became extremely disturbed by the Eagleton revelation because he felt the campaign would be hopeless with two of them on the same ticket.

ence to be held "in 20 minutes." Goodbye scoop! Goodbye promises!!

Eagleton was to admit later that it was the effort of the pair which caused a change in timing after he had assured all who would listen that he would not give up his candidacy.

Thus, because of a sense of "responsible journalism"—and faith—Knight Newspapers lost its scoop. Meanwhile, Jack Anderson, who had also heard the rumors, plus some others even more damaging, was not about to lose his scoop. He turned to nation-wide radio to tell listeners that Eagleton possessed a record of a half-dozen drunk-driving arrests. He hadn't done his home work. He later was to apologize and retract. True Davis, former U.S. ambassador to Switzerland was identified as Anderson's source of information.

Through all this glared the unhappy fact that Eagleton had played politics with McGovern. Knowing that a psychiatric problem severe enough to require "shock treatment" is severe enough to upset a great many presidential voters, Eagleton elected not to inform McGovern of his ailment when he was invited to the ticket as vice-presidential nominee.

And in all that lies a good example of the pressures of politics and the press.

It tells of hard-working reporters trusting political big-wigs with their scoop so that they might refute their findings. And the politicians performed as politicians.

It tells of a scoop-hungry columnist too impatient to thoroughly check his material and ending with egg on his face, but worse, bringing some discredit to newsmen which they did not deserve.

It tells of politicians, in their relations with each other, who can willfully withhold facts that should be made public. It was former presidential aspirant Barry Goldwater who noted last week that press censorship, if it comes, will be due to such false information as given by Anderson.

What Goldwater should have said, because we are certain he has a stronger feeling about it than concern of a misguided reporter, is that if this nation ever topples, it will be the fault of politicians like Eagleton who would mislead his sponsors and the public for his own political advantage.

LG Fire Report

The Lemon Grove Fire Department, for the week of July 31-Aug. 7, made five fire runs and two rescue runs.

On Aug. 4, at 3:04 p.m., firemen responded to a call from a gasoline station on College ave., where a truck driver, delivering gasoline to the station, had gone inside the station to telephone and left the liquid pouring into the station's tank. A defect in the hose shut-off system caused gasoline to overflow and run down the street and into a drain. Firemen washed the street and the drain.

Also on Aug. 4, at the Food Basket Market, it was reported that a "crank" had ignited trash in a container, which set off the overhead sprinkler system.

The Fire Department reported that there was water damage in one section of the market, as well as damage to stock and to the ceiling.

La Mesa-Spring Valley District Cuts Tax Rate

While tax rates are climbing elsewhere, the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District this year will be asking for less money from the taxpayers as a result of the 1972-73 budget which was approved last week.

13,000 Acres Annexed

Otay Waterworks OK's Daley Ranch

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The Local Agency Formation Commission on Monday approved the annexation of nearly 13,000 acres to the Otay Municipal Water District without bothering to hold a public hearing on the matter.

The annexation consists of Rancho Jamul owned by the Daley interests and some 8,000 of the acreage astride Highway 94 is included in one of the first three agricultural preserves in this county.

The applicants' written justification is: "To obtain water for agricultural and related development purposes. It is proposed at this time to enable the water district to formulate long-range plans and financing for future water services."

Attorney Alex Cory for the Daleys said that the owners would pay fully for any installations and that nothing would be done that would place a burden upon other taxpayers of the water district.

Apparently, the only present purpose is for water distribution planning. There was no evidence that the acreage

LG District Trustees O.K. 1972-73 Budget

The Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees met Monday night and approved a $3.9 million budget for 1972-73, which will include a tax rate increase of about 10 cents.

Superintendent Robert Sutton and assistant superintendent for business services R. Paul Reynolds presented the budget to trustees, closely resembling the publication with budget approved last month, except for one problem.

Sutton told trustees that a recent ruling mandated that the district pay $13,000 for unemployment benefits, overriding a decision that the money be collected on a county-wide basis.

The requirement added 3 cents to the tax increase of 10 cents already included in the budget.

Trustees, who decided to adopt a budget that would increase taxes no more than 10 cents per $100 assessed value.

Superintendent Robert Sutton indicated that the problem should not be evident when bids are opened September 21.

Spring Valley Woman Dead of Knife Wounds

Sheriff's Deputies were investigating the slaying of a 21-year old Spring Valley girl this week, after her body was discovered late Saturday afternoon with numerous slashes and puncture wounds.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, the body of Susan Papike, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Papike, of 10624 Eureka rd., Spring Valley, was found by her boyfriend at 4:45 p.m. outside a cave where they were apparently living near El Capitan Reservoir.

Charles Hurst, who found the body, indicated to deputies that he was returning from a fishing trip when he discovered the crime.

Goals, Parks on LGPA Agenda

NEW TRASH CANS — Lemon Grove litterers will find it easier to help keep the town clean now that the Lemon Grove Lions Club and Thomas Disposal have combined efforts to place several trash containers in convenient locations about town. The new round containers replace the old square trash bins

Subcommittee Suggestions To Be Aired

Two items of major concern will be discussed at this evening's meeting of the Lemon Grove Planning Association executive committee, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Golden Avenue School.

Topping the agenda will be the return of community goals from the various service districts. Over 40 agencies have returned the goals with suggestions or approval to be considered by the executive committee. Several have requested more time to study proposed goals.

After all suggestions have been considered and any revisions made, the goals will be presented to the county for approval, then incorporated in the community's general plan.

The second major item on the agenda will be the discussion of possible park sites, as recommended by the parks and recreation subcommittee.

The subcommittee met Monday night and reviewed a list of twenty potential park sites, giving recommendations that eight of the sites be considered.

Top choice on the list to be considered is a 3-acre parcel southwest of the corner of Pacific and Olive. Second choice is an 11.8-acre site on Washington between Drexel and Jamacha.

Others to be considered include 5.4 acres on New Jersey off Mt. Vernon, 6.2 acres on Grove north of the railroad, 5.2 acres between Broadway, Corona, and North, and 6.6 acres between Adams, Washington, Lincoln, and Golden.

Rounding out tonight's meeting will be a discussion of membership eligibility, and a reply from county counsel on a request for clarification on the issue.

Lynn Skinner, who acts as the liaison between the LGPA and the county, indicated that county counsel failed to offer a clarification on the question because the request was too vague.

Helix High School Pool Project OK'd

Construction began this week at Helix High School on a $255,000 swimming pool complex.

The project, jointly funded by the City of La Mesa and the Grossmont Union High School District, will include an L-shaped, multi-use pool, as well as a smaller pool equipped with diving apparatus.

The project was earlier approved by the La Mesa city council for the multi-purpose pool only, as bids for both pools were higher than budgeted amounts.

Last week, however, the Grossmont District Board of Trustees voted to give La Mesa $25,000 to help with the project. The additional money, along with some design changes which reduced the cost of construction, enabled the city to go ahead with the diving pool.

Had the construction of the diving pool been delayed, expected costs would have been about $18,000 more than it will be.

The money donated by the school district will be paid back to the district as credits for operational expenses. Under an agreement between the district and the city, each will pay a proportionate amount of operational expenses. It is expected to take three years of city-financed operation to use up the school district's $25,000.

'Alice In Wonderland' To Be SV Theatre's Best Production Yet

"Alice in Wonderland", the well known Lewis Carroll story, will be staged by local actors at the Spring Valley Theatre, 9062 Memory lane, Spring Valley, beginning Sunday.

The production, as it will be presented on the local stage, will include the characters of the original story, but not much else.

Mike Garcia, one of Spring Valley's most talented actor-writers, has re-arranged the story, setting it in the rock 'n' roll era of the 50's and a three ring circus atmosphere, all adding up to a delightful satire.

Garcia, who has established himself as a top-notch comedy actor in area productions and as an excellent mystery-horror writer, will also direct the local theatre creation.

The Spring Valley Theatre has had some problems since it opened last year, suffering from difficult direction and play selection because of its stage.

"Alice in Wonderland", however, because of its setting and atmosphere, will suit the theatre better than past productions, and should turn out to be its best effort yet.

Maureen Cruz will portray Alice, while Teresa Lakin plays her sister Beth. Cathy Liljestrom will be the "Groovy White Rabbit", who suffers slightly from arthritis.

Mike Garcia will handle one more chore in the play, as he will portray the Mad Hatter, while Mary Ann Price, queen of Monopoly and Roller Derby, will take on the job of the Queen of Hearts.

Steve Thomas will be featured in the role of the Cheshire Cat, who hates to smile, but does it anyway because bag, which was rolled up,

Three Schemes Here Devised to Bilk Credulous Residents

The Fraud Division of the San Diego Sheriff's Department in a flurry of advisories gave warnings this week on three potentially dishonest activities.

1. Phony religious organizations are reported soliciting in the Lemon Grove area for contributions purportedly to purchase braille religious material for the blind. Representatives of the organization are presenting identification that states they are registered with the Sheriff's Department. This is false! The Sheriff registers no one. Sometimes they claim to represent the Fire Department.

2. Phony tree trimmers, charging so much a limb or so much per foot of limb trimmed, are now in the county area. Also arriving here are persons claiming to be roof and driveway repair experts who intend to fleece residents. The Sheriff's Fraud Division should be notified when these experts appear on the scene.

3. Chain letters are showing up again. The scheme usually requires that the sucker send one dollar to the name at the top of the list and 20 letters to acquaintances with the top name removed and your name added to the bottom.

You are promised $8,000 when your name reaches the top and dire threats are made against breaking the chain. The Sheriff urges that you save your money. If only three names had been added before you received the letter, one billion, two hundred eighty million would need to be involved before you get your money.

If eight names were placed before the top name when you got involved, every person in the world would not be enough to complete the chain. Those approached on any of these capers should call the Sheriff's Fraud Detail at 232-3811, Ext. 328.

Dear Editor,

Some of the homeowners in Lemon Grove were present at a meeting of the Lemon Grove Planning Association parks and recreation subcommittee Monday night at Golden Avenue School, in hopes of helping to select another park for the community.

They were told by a cur Mr. Cole that they should not be in attendance, as the meeting was only for members of the subcommittee.

Do the homeowners, some of who have paid taxes here for many years, have no voice in how their taxes are to be spent?

The subcommittee chairman stated that more parks were to be built here in Lemon Grove, regardless of the taxpayers' objections.

If we must have a park, I would suggest that the subcommittee allow homeowners to be in on the selection of it. Members of the community were invited to help make the selections by Mrs. Cole, and the invitations should have been honored.

Learn Spanish The Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

Interestingly enough the English word "out" has many variations when it is translated into Spanish. A primary translation for "out" could be "afuera." This may be used in phrases like "El esta afuera de la ciudad." (He is out of the city.) and "Me siento fuera de lugar." (I feel out of place.)

"Out" as used with the expression "out of fashion" would be translated "pasado." For example, we might say "Este vestido esta pasado de moda." (This dress is out of fashion.) or "Toda mi ropa esta pasado de moda." (All my clothes are out of fashion.)

"Out-of-the-way" is translated to one word "apartado." Thus we may say "Yo vivo en un lugar muy apartado." (I live in a very out-of-the-way place.) or "Su casa esta un poco apartado." (Your house is a little out-of-the-way.)

"Out for" may be translated "en plan." This may be seen in the expressions "El esta en plan de estudiar todo lo posible." (He is out for studying as much as possible.) and "Ella esta en plan de el dinero." (She is out for the money.)

"Out of the question" is converted to Spanish by saying "imposible." This may appear in a phrase like "Es imposible que se quede." (It is out of the question for you to remain.) "To be out of" translates into "no tener." This may be expressed in phrases like "No me gusta no tener dinero." (I do not like to be out of money.) and "Pronto vamos a no tener azucar." (We will soon be out of sugar.)

You may wish to continue learning the practical and varied ways of translating "out" into Spanish. The following phrases are designed for that purpose. Please practice saying them with the aid of the related phonetic guide. Then practice with the recorded voice heard when you dial 276-2762.

IMPORTANT PHRASES:

Say "El esta afuera." (eh-eh-STAH ah-foo-EH-rah) for "He is out."
Say "Eso es fuera de lugar." (EH-soh ehs foo-EH-rah deh-loo-GAHR) for "This is out of place."

Say "Esta un poco apartado." (eh-STAH oon-POH-koh ah-pahr-TAH-toh) for "It is a little out-of-the-way."
Say "Es imposible quedar." (ehs eem-poh-SEEB-leh keh-DAHR) for "It is impossible to remain."

Say "No tener dinero es posible." (noh teh-NEHR de-NEH-roh ehs poh-SEEB-leh) for "To be out of money is possible."

Dr. Willard Schurr, a retired Methodist minister, will be in the pulpit of the Foot-hills United Methodist Church, Avocado Blvd., for the next two Sundays, during the vacation of Rev. Floyd Zerbe.

Dedication Of New Kingdom Hall Held

A new Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, at 9605 Jaramacha Blvd., Spring Valley, was dedicated Friday through Sunday, July 28-30. The new hall will serve two congregations, the Lemon Grove North and the Lemon Grove South.

The hall is of white stucco with red tile roof following the Spanish motif. Contrasting with the white interior is an orange shag carpet with matching theater seats and gold drapes at the platform.

Ornate lamps grace the walls while two large black upholstered chairs and a speaker's stand give the stage an inviting appearance. Although there are no windows, air-conditioning and full lighting have all been arranged.

Building of the Kingdom Hall was started January 20, this year, and was completed in six months. It was designed and built by Gerald E. Thompson of Spring Valley together with volunteer labor of about fifty local Witnesses. Over an acre of ground provided paved, off-street parking.

The new Kingdom Hall is the second to be built in Spring Valley and was necessitated by the growth of the Witnesses in the Lemon Grove, Spring Valley and La Mesa area.

It was in October of 1950 that some 30 Witnesses began meeting in the old post office building at Fourth and La Mesa Boulevard in La Mesa. The newly formed congregation served not only the La Mesa, Lemon Grove and Spring Valley area, but as far as College Avenue in San Diego.

Outgrowing the La Mesa quarters, the Witnesses built a new Kingdom Hall at 9052 Lamar St., Spring Valley in 1958. Growth soon necessitated two congregations.

Further growth over the years found four congregations meeting in the Lamar St. hall — the Spring Valley, La Mesa and two Lemon Grove congregations. Land was obtained in south Spring Valley and the new hall built.

'Summit Lighthouse' Lecture Due Friday

Three members of the Summit Lighthouse, a religious organization headquartered in Colorado Springs, Colorado, will present a lecture at San Diego State College tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m. in room 113 of the Arts and Science Building.

Martin Lasater, professor of Comparative Religions at the Summit Lighthouse, will join fellow staff members Erwin Arndt and Jeffrey Lewis in the program.

The trio will speak on the teaching of "The Great White Brotherhood", one of the beliefs of the organization, and explain the recently published first volume of "Climb The Highest Mountain", written by Mark and Elizabeth Prophet, founders of the Summit Lighthouse.

The program will also include a question and answer period, according to Mabel Holmes, a local student of the organization.

For further information, phone 469-0847, or 583-1960.

Navy Recruiter Due

Rear Admiral Emmett H. Tidd, Commander of Navy Recruiting, will visit San Diego Aug. 22, for visits with local Navy commanders and an address that evening before San Diego County Navy League Council officers.

The Navy has disclosed critical recruiting problems this year, calling on the Navy League at its 1972 National Convention in Charleston, S.C. to aid in recruiting programs.

The sea-going force lags behind the Army, Navy and Marine Corps in meeting its recruiting goals, according to officials.

L.G. Baptist Church To Fete 30th Anniversary

The First Baptist Church of Lemon Grove will celebrate the 30th anniversary of the founding of the church at ceremonies and activities Sunday.

A combined Sunday school worship hour will kick-off activities at 9:45 a.m. At 1 p.m., members of the church and their guests will enjoy "dinner on the grounds", to be followed by a "stroll down memory lane" service at 3 p.m.

Speaking at the 3 p.m. service will be several former pastors of the church, including Dallas C. Bivins, Sr., who was the first pastor of the church. Others will be Bob G. Rochelle, of Santa Barbara, and W. A. Shoopman, of Los Angeles.

A film festival slated for later in the afternoon will round out celebrations.

The First Baptist Church of Lemon Grove was formed August 12, 1942, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Blaine, who are still active in the church.

The church congregation, with six charter members, met at the Blaine home for one month, then moved to the local VFW Hall for a little over one year before the church was able to purchase property.

The first property owned by the church was at School lane and Central ave., the location now occupied by the Lemon Grove Fire Station. In 1948, the church purchased property at Burnell and Main and built a meeting place there. Cost for that project was $60,000.

In 1954, property nearby was purchased for parking space, and in 1968, the church moved into its present three-story sanctuary, with the old meeting hall used for educational purposes.

Current and former members, as well as their guests, have been invited to the celebration.

New Themes To Mark Year For Boy Scouts

Familiar Scouting activities will be planned by troops in this area for the 1972-73 program year, but new program themes will reflect the improved Scouting program to be launched in September.

The traditional hiking, camping, pioneering, other outdoor activities, patrol cooking, and first aid are included, according to Scout Commissioner Ralph Walton of the San Diego County Council, Boy Scouts of America. However, a new program feature is team sports, and another suggestion is communications which has nothing to do with the old skills of signaling by Morse code and semaphore.

As part of the Scouts' decisionmaking process, which is emphasized in the improved Scouting program, Scouts in the troop make their suggestions, and the troop leaders council — made up of Scouts who are elected officers — determine the final program.

Troops often develop their own program themes, Walton said, or select from the suggested theme which include science fair, Scout field meet, historic trails, find your way, team sports, Americanism, skating, swim meet, backpacking, conservation, communication, fire, patrol cooking, building skills, animals, and jamboree.

About two per cent of the electricity used in the U. S. is generated by nuclear plants.

Red Cross-Sea World Plan Aid Event

San Diegans will have a chance to demonstrate civic pride as well as compassion for less fortunate communities at the special Red Cross benefit to be held Saturday evening, August 26. The event, which will highlight the America's Finest City festival, is a joint effort of Sea World and the San Diego County Chapter of the American Red Cross to raise funds for the more than 500,000 flood victims who have suffered through the most devastating series of floods in our nation's history.

"Red Cross Night at Sea World" will entertain San Diegans with the popular aquatic park's six shows, many unique exhibits and rides. The proceeds from the ticket sales will be contributed to the nationwide disaster fund campaign. San Diego was assigned a goal of $12,000 for the campaign and some $25,000 of this amount has already been raised. The local chapter of the Red Cross hopes to almost double this figure with the funds gained by "Red Cross Night at Sea World."

The need is accentuated by the series of natural disasters which began last June. It took the lives of 355 Americans; 546,086 became flood victims in California and 11 other states with 2,000 still being housed in Red Cross shelters while 20,000 others are receiving food, clothing and other mass care services daily.

Annual Breakfast Set

The Spring Valley Women's Club will hold its annual breakfast meeting August 16, at the lodge, 1200 Grandview, Spring Valley, from 8 to 11 a.m.

Grossmont District Scouts Plan Annual Camping Trip

Some 500 Scouts and their leaders from the Grossmont District will move into Mataguay Scout Reservation August 20-26 for the annual district week in camp.

"Learning how to survive in high chapparel country, distinguishing eatable plants and roots and learning how to prepare them will be highlighted during the week in camp," said Dr. Tom Webster of Spring Valley, Chairman of the event. Webster and his committee will be assisted by "FASTOTRAGRUPAC," Fleet Air Survival Training Group, North Island.

Each year the Grossmont District Scouts plans their week in camp to insure that Scouts who attend are provided with the best possible program. Individual troops plan their own programs in conjunction with the "Week in Camp Committee." The Scouts are assured a well-rounded week of skills and fun.

Scouts will bring their own survival kit as prescribed in the Scout Field Manual. The Navy Survival team will teach the Scouts how to recognize edible plants and roots, how to prepare them, and how to make snares for wild animals. They will make a desert water still, and locate water in dry creek beds. The Scouts will prepare one full meal with the eatable plants and roots that they identify and collect.

Webster and his committee also have planned "fun events" to offer the Scouts relaxation and a good time.

Camp Mataguay, Scout Reservation, is staffed to give the Scouts in camp an opportunity to achieve skills that are not ordinarily available during troop meetings. These skills help the Scout advance within the Scouting Program. The week in camp also gives the Scout unit credit towards the "Long Term" camping award.

Final Session Held

Over 100 girls from throughout the county left Wednesday for Camp Wolahi, the San Diego County Council of Camp Fire Girls' Cuyamaca facility.

Included among those who are attending the final 11-day extended session at the camp is Gail Cummings, of Lemon Grove. She will enjoy all-day hikes, overnight camping trips, and canoe excursions during her stay.

During this session, members of the council board of directors will have dinner at the new multi-purpose lodge to observe it in use.

This summer's campers are the first to use the new $250,000 facility which features double fireplaces. One of the fireplaces has been used for weekly council fires because of the prohibition of outside fires in the Cuyamacas due to high fire danger.

The San Diego Natural History Museum in Balboa Park is helping the National Park Service, U. S. Department of the Interior, celebrate its Centennial by presenting an exhibition of black and white and color photographs called "The Park Environment—A Photographer's View," taken by the world-famous nature photographer Woodbridge "Woody" Williams.

Williams was born in Berkeley, California. After service in the Army Air Corps during World War II, he returned to California to enroll in the Scripps Institution of Oceanography. It was there, as a student of Marine Biology, that he developed a serious interest in photography.

Following a short period as a Junior Aquatic Biologist for the California Academy of Sciences, he set off as a freelance photographer and writer. In 1961 he joined the Washington photographic staff of the National Park Service.

The exhibit, "The Park Environment," contains 37 photo prints and gives the viewer an overall impression of National Parks.

Bathtub Race Set For Mission Bay

Records may tumble by the dozens at the first running of America's Finest City Cup Race, scheduled for August 26 in the normally quiet waters of San Diego's Mission Bay.

The race will be the world's fastest aquatic event ever held in Mission Bay — for six horse power bathtubs, that is. The event is co-sponsored by Mission Bay Associates and Farrell's Ice Cream, and will be the highlight of a day-long Gay Nineties Family Picnic at Crown Point Shores. Games and contests will be held throughout the day starting at 9 a.m. Some of the activities will include a sack race, tricycle race, egg toss and horseshoe contest. Prizes will be awarded to the winners and a trophy will be awarded for the best Gay 90's costume.

More than 75 bathtubs, specially modified for racing and powered by stock outboard motors not exceeding six horsepower, are expected to take the starter's gun at noon. All drivers participating will become eligible for the drawing of the grand prize — a Hobie Cat sailboat. Trophies and other prizes will be awarded to class winners.

Specific information may be obtained by calling Mission Bay Associates at 276-2800.

New Programs Planned By Monte Vista Drama Group

The Monte Vista Drama Department has worked all summer on producing a rock musical and preparing the program for the regular school year.

"To Be", the rock musical based on Shakespeare's "Hamlet", recently closed after making the west coast premier at Monte Vista.

The 1972-73 season begins in October, and several new programs will be instigated, according to drama instructor Ron Ray.

For the first time, students, as well as the public, will have the opportunity to purchase season tickets to all Monte Vista drama productions at a reduced cost.

Two season ticket plans have been prepared.

"Plan A" season tickets, which will be sold for $9 to adults, $6 for students, and $2.75 to children, will enable the holder to view eight dramatic productions and two movie programs. On a single night basis, the same program would cost $12, $8, and $4.

"Plan B" tickets, sold for $6, $4, and $2, enable the holder to see five drama productions and one movie program and represent a savings of up to $1.50 over regular seats.

Season tickets, which are tax deductible, said Ray, will be available by sending payment to Monte Vista Drama Department, 3230 Sweetwater Spring Blvd., Spring Valley, 92077, or by phoning 465-1300, ext. 39, after Sept. 1.

Another new feature of next year's drama program is the "Town and Gown" series, which will be presented December 7-9 and April 26-28. The December program will include "Purgatory" and "Next", as well as several improvisations. The April program will be a reader's theatre production of "Animal Farm".

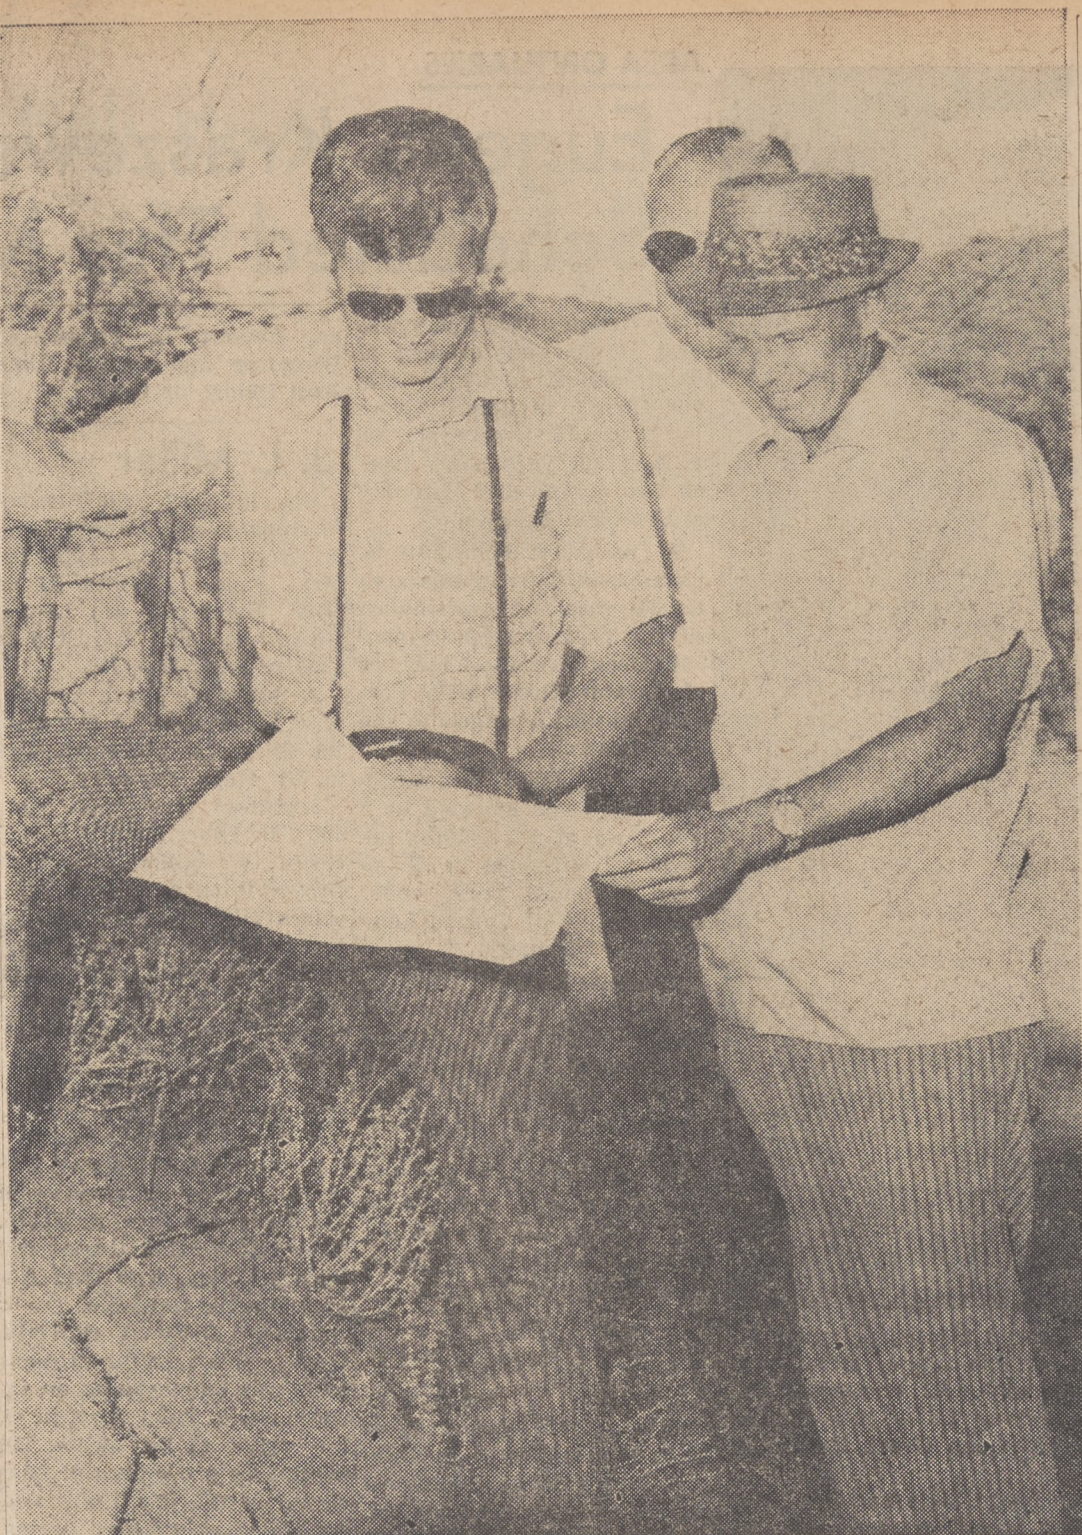

The first production of the season will be several one-act plays, presented October 5-7. The feature of the fall season will be "One Mad Night", comedy and mystery plays scheduled for November 7-11.

"Town and Gown" will be the December offering, with experimental theatre on tap January 25-27 with the one-act plays "Home Free", "Lemonade", and "Now That April's Here".

More one-act plays will be presented February 22-24, to be followed by the spring feature attraction "Oedipus Rex" March 27-31. "Town and Gown" will play during April, with a "one-act tournament" to round out the season May 24-26.

Film programs are scheduled for December and June, with Woody Allen's "What's Up Tiger Lady" on tap December 14-15, along with the W. C. Fields melodramatic comedy "Fatal Glass of Beer".

June 7-8 will bring in the feature film "Wait Until Dark" starring Audrey Hepburn and Alan Larkin, along with another W. C. Fields short comedy "The Dentist".

SECOND CAMPUS SITE — Rancho San Diego and Grossmont Community College officials pause by a surveyor's marker to examine a site map and view the property acquired by the College for its $20 million second campus. Touring the 160-acre parcel located in the heart of the Rancho San Diego "new town" are, left to right, George H. Boeck, executive assistant to RSD vice president

Leonard Graysen; W. E. Swanson, RSD director of engineering and construction; and Dr. Robert N. Burnham, Superintendent of the Grossmont Community College District. The new campus will serve about 6,800 students when it opens in the fall of 1976. It is designed to blend with the surrounding terrain and environment and will preserve existing trees.

Dove Hunting To Highlight Meeting Tonight

The San Diego County Fish and Game Association promotes sportsmen the next best thing to an actual trip afield tonight when it presents a monthly program combining dove hunting prospects for the seasonal opener and gun dogs going through their paces in the field.

The "double-barreled" program will be held in Balboa Park at the War Memorial Building, with hunting dogs to grab the spotlight in front of the building at 7 p.m. and the general meeting to be held inside a half hour later.

Casey Krupiel and Charlie Ayres, representing the San Diego Sporting Dog Club as well as the Association, will direct the dog performance and explain training techniques.

Dayton Frost will moderate the dove meeting and will have as his guests Vic Benson, Imperial Valley Fish and Game Commission chairman, Commissioner Dan Mueller, and Capt. John Roumasset, of the Department of Fish and Game. They will delve into situations which will confront hunters when the season opens.

Sporting movies also will be shown, and the public is invited.

Hornworm Pest Seen In State

Tomato hornworm, a big green monster of a worm, is now dining on the leaves and fruits of tomato plants, peppers, and eggplants in home gardens and fields throughout California, according to the State Department of Agriculture.

The pest is leaf green in color and, being a well-fed worm, grows to about three inches in length and as big around as a thumb. It has a brown-colored sharp horn on its posterior, and spits a green liquid when anyone interrupts its eating.

It is not uncommon to see several hornworms on each tomato or pepper plant, and they can make short work of all such plants in a home garden.

Ron Hawthorne, economic entomologist for the Department, says that spraying with Sevin or Diazinon will destroy the hornworm.

Another effective control is to pick them off the plant and step on them, or use a pair of scissors and cut them in half.

Chinese Films Due Sunday

Two color, cinematic films, "The Petite Wife" and "The Oyster Girl," will conclude UCSD's Chinese entertainment film series at the Unicorn Cinema, 7456 La Jolla Blvd., La Jolla, at 2:30 p.m., Sunday.

Both are in Mandarin Chinese with English and Chinese subtitles. Admission is $1.50 for adults and $1 for children.

"The Petite Wife" is the story of a pretty girl who is married to the idiot son of a wealthy official. Bold and clever, she cures her husband's mental illness through unconventional behavior, but receives scant thanks from his family. The story delineates many facets of traditional Chinese family organization.

"The Oyster Girl" is about a girl who finds she is pregnant after her fiancé has gone to sea. She encounters both compassion and cruelty from the people in her town, a small fishing village in contemporary Taiwan.

The addition of a new animal show and some changes in an established one bring a new look to the Wegeforth Bowl stage at the San Diego Zoo next week.

The shows include a demonstration of the five-year-old, 3200-pound elephant's ability to follow voice commands in doing various feats on the stage and on pedestals; a tightrope-like walk along a twelve-foot elevated plank; and a demonstration of Carol's well-known painting talents.

Deacon, Rossovich & Co. In Purple Gang Charge

Harland Svare's upstarts from San Diego invade the territory of the Purple Gang Saturday night.

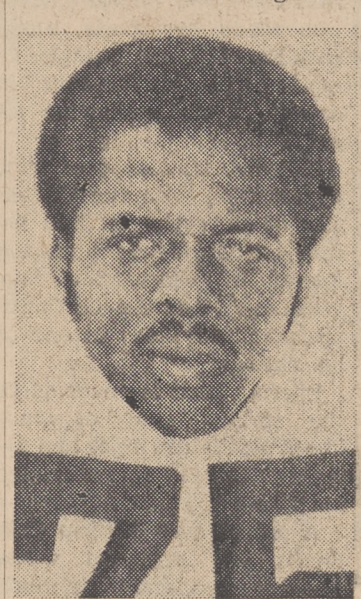

To Minnesota, to face the vaunted Vikings, travel the Chargers and their newly christened-by-Deacon Jones defense, Harland's Hooligans. The pre-season game at Metro Stadium begins at 6 p.m., San Diego time. KCST-39 television and KDEO (910) radio will send home the action.

Of Norwegian ancestry and Clarkfield, Minn., birth, Svare hopes his pilgrimage will produce a second impressive performance by San Diego. The Chargers whipped the Atlanta Falcons, 30-7, before 41,404 at San Diego Stadium last Saturday night.

For the Vikings, the game is the opener of a season heralded by the return of prodigal son, quarterback Francis Tarkenton. "Frantic Fran" was the heart of the Minnesota offense from the team's inception in 1961 until he was traded to the Giants in 1966. He returns to the Twin Cities in the No. 5 position among all-time NFL passers with 28,484 yards.

Not that Minnesota's fortunes declined without him. From 1969 through 1971, the Vikings had the best record in pro football, 35 wins, 7 losses. But the success stems from the league's stoutest defense and mightiest front four, ends Carl Eller and Jim Marshall and tackles Alan Page and

Deacon Jones

Gary Larsen. In 1971, Page became the first defensive player to be named "Most Valuable" in the NFL.

Saturday night's game is the rubber match in what became an "instant rivalry" between the teams last summer. Minnesota walloped San Diego, 34-7, in a pre-season game marked by a massive midfield free-for-all. The Vikings returned to San Diego in December and were stunned by the Chargers, 30-14... the worst defeat for Minnesota in three years.

Valley Mesa Wins Bobby Sox Tourney

The Lemon Grove, Jamacha Hills, and Spring Valley Bobby Sox all-star teams met with doom last week in the area major league tournament held at Lemon Grove Junior High School.

Lemon Grove lost in the opening round to Jamacha Hills, dropping the host team into the loser's bracket. Lemon Grove then edged South Bay, 3-2, to advance to the third round.

In the third round, however, Chula Vista knocked off the Grovers, 9-5, eliminating Lemon Grove from further competition in the double-elimination tourney.

Jamacha Hills, top seeded local team, won twice before dropping to the lower bracket. After whipping Lemon Grove, 9-6, the Hillers blasted South Bay, 16-2, to earn a berth in the semi-finals against Valley Mesa, eventual winner of the tournament.

In the semi's, Jamacha Hills took a 17-2 thumping, dropping into the losers' bracket. The Hillers were eliminated there by Spring Valley, 10-7.

Spring Valley, the local area's last hope, won in the opening round over Otay Mesa, 7-3, but lost to Valley Mesa in the second round, 14-8.

The loss to Valley Mesa set up a confrontation with Jamacha Hills, which Spring Valley won, 10-7. With the victory over the Hillers, Spring Valley needed only to get by Chula Vista to get a shot at Valley Mesa for the title.

Chula Vista, however, proved too much for the local hopefuls, coming from behind for a 7-5 decision. Spring Valley held a 5-4 lead after six innings, but Chula Vista tallied three times for the victory.

Chula Vista went on to lose for the second time to Valley Mesa.

To confound Coach Bud Grant this week is San Diego's new look, especially on defense. The Chargers used five new defensive starters, including an all-new front four, against Atlanta. Another starter, linebacker Tim Rossovich, is scheduled to make his debut against the Vikings.

The Chargers outgained the Falcons, 466 yards to 186. Quarterbacks John Hadl, Marty Domres and Wayne Clark shared duty and each threw one touchdown pass. Newcomer Dave Williams caught two of them and Jerry LeVias the other. Rookie Oscar Dragon led the rushers with 49 yards and scored on a 10-yard run.

The defense was paced by Bob Babich's 13 tackles, interceptions by Bryant Salter and rookie Stan Hansen and quarterback sacks by Ron East, Dave Costa and The Deacon.

After playing the Vikings, the Chargers return home against the San Francisco 49ers at San Diego Stadium, Saturday night, Aug. 19.

'Ghetto' Musical To Be Staged August 25, 26

Teaching drama and dance to students in southeast San Diego.

Gaffney and a staff of six have been holding afternoon and evening classes for about 40 youths in the Lincoln High School auditorium under the sponsorship of the Southeast Performing Arts Consortium, a combined effort of the Southeast Community Theatre and the YWCA Community Arts Workshop. Funding has come mostly from a $6,000 grant from the Mayor's Council on Youth.

The program is primarily recreational with the goal of exposing young persons to alternative ways of using leisure time. But there is the possibility that for several of them, the program will be the final show of his true form and is certain to be among the choices.

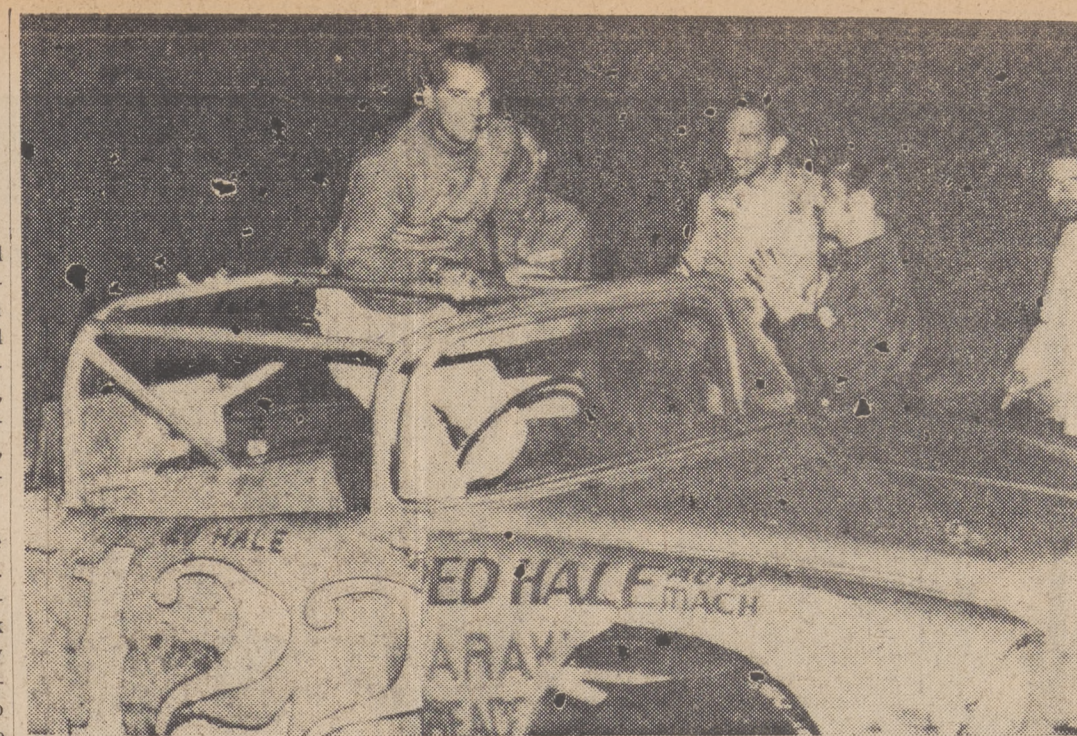

Considered to be one of the most improved colts in training, Finalista will be making his Del Mar debut in the La Jolla. And the eight furlongs distance should be much in his favor. A strong case can also be made for the chances of New Prospect and Solar Salute, who finished noses apart in the Oceanside at six furlongs.

La Jolla Mile is Feature At Del Mar Track Saturday

DEL MAR — A star-studded lineup of equine sophomores — headed by five recent stakes winners — will seek the spotlight at Del Mar Saturday in the 32nd running of the $20,000 La Jolla Mile, the final stepping-stone leading to the rich Del Mar Derby on Aug. 26.

Nominated for the La Jolla are the sensational Finalista, winner of the Caballero and Cinema Handicaps at Hollywood Park; New Prospect, the eastern invader who made good at first asking in winning the Oceanside Handicap at the seaside on Aug. 2; Solar Salute, winner of nine races this year, including the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby; Kentuckian, victor in the Argonaut Stakes at Hollywood and Woodland Pines, triumphant in the Marina del Rey Stakes at the same course.

Padres, Colbert Homecoming Series with Dodgers Friday

The Padres are coming home. Nate will be coming up. The Dodgers are coming in. And several special added attractions for the fans who come out.

A 12-game summer stand at the Stadium commences Friday night, continues through the weekend with the Dodgers and follows with the Cards, Pirates and Cubs.

Despite the rugged competition, the Padres expect to improve their July performance when the team won a dozen decisions, the best record of any month this season.

And there's Nate Colbert's assault on the National League's home run and runs-batted-in titles to provoke special interest during the home stand.

The Padres and Dodgers, arduous antagonists whenever they meet, skirmish Friday and Saturday nights starting at 7:30 and on Sunday at 1 o'clock.

Sunday also will be Fotomat Camera Day with fans permitted on the field from 12:15 to 12:45 to take photographs of their favorite players. The first 1,000 persons entering the Stadium will receive a roll of film from Fotomat and the company will also distribute discount coupons for film processing to other fans at the game. In addition, Fotomat will give away an Argus camera kit at the end of each inning on Sunday.

When the Padres open their three-game series with the Cards on Tuesday, more than $3500 worth of diamonds will be distributed by Sears.

The first 5,000 women entering the Stadium on Diamond Night will be given an envelope from Sears containing either a rhinestone or an actual diamond.

Included in the envelopes will be 15 diamonds, twelve of one-third carat and three of one-half carat. When women take their envelopes to jewelers at Sears stores in Escondido, El Cajon, San Diego and Chula Vista they will be advised as to the contents.

The Pirates arrive Aug. 18 as the Padres host more than 30 former National League and Pacific Coast League greats that evening for the Old Timers Game.

Alex Groza, K. C. Jones To Direct Conquistadors

Dr. Leonard Bloom, a fresh breath in San Diego's professional sports garden, has the Conquistadors on the move.

In case you were looking the other way a moment, you need to know that it happened fast.

The Conquistadors, San Diego's new professional basketball team, did not exist even as a franchise a few days ago. After press time for this publication names of the players for the newest American Basketball franchise team were to be announced.

Prior to that Dr. Bloom, an orthodontist, and operator of the House of Ice at 70th and 18, outbid San Diego International Sports Arena operator Peter Graham and another San Diego group for the franchise, hired K. C. Jones, the great former Celtic guard as coach, and Alex Groza, an executive with the Louisville Colonels.

Dr. Bloom negotiated with Graham for the use of the arena but balked at the $250,000 a year Graham demanded. Rumors had it that he would operate the first year from San Diego State's Peterson

Grove Drivers Spotlited In S. Bay Events

Everything you've always wanted to know about auto racing, should be the title of this weekend's racing slate at the South Bay Speedway in Chula Vista, where three slam-bang nights of racing are on tap this Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Kicking off the weekend's racing will be Friday night's doubleheader program of SDR Super-Sprint Car racing and a gigantic Destruction Derby. The first of eight races will be at 8:15 p.m. on the half-mile clay oval.

Saturday night the popular ECSRA Super-Stock Cars battle in another action packed night of racing. Last Saturday Ed Hale of Lemon Grove scored his first main event triumph of the year, before the largest crowd in the tracks short history.

Hale, a former El Cajon Stock Car Racing Assn. champion, will have tough competition from two other ECSRA former title holders, Jim Hitt of Lemon Grove and Tex Kimbrell of Imperial Beach.

An extra added attraction on Saturday night, is "Kiddie Rides" for all children 12 and under in a race car at intermission time. All children will be taken around the track for one lap in a racing stock car.

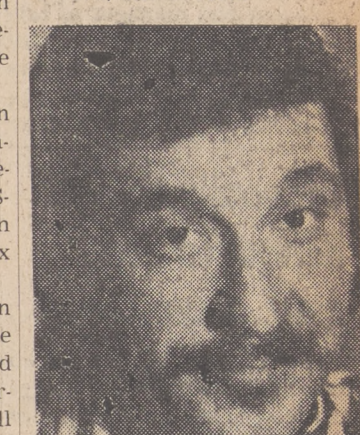

Sunday night a tripleheader program is planned featuring the SRA Mini and Jalopy Stock Cars and the tracks 1/4 mile tri-angle course. Then as an added attraction the new racing sensation, Dune Buggy races will be run on a specially prepared 1/2 mile off-road course, with two steeplechase jumps for the cars to negotiate each lap. Doc Severinson Headlines SD Symphony Gala

Doc Severinson will perform in San Diego for the first time Friday during the San Diego Symphony's "Star Spangled Summer" series.

He, his Now Generation Brass orchestra and his troupe of singers and dancers, Today's Children, will present the fifth in a series of six shows, at the Open Air Theatre, California State University, at 8:30 p.m.

The four prior shows, which opened with Arthur Fiedler July 17, have been smash hits and it is assumed that "the great Doc" will equal, if not succeed, the record.

As Musical Director of NBC's Tonight Show, Doc is well known to millions of viewers for his trumpet virtuosity, his banter with Johnny Carson and his wardrobe.

The finale show August 18 will be a free gala with Andre Kostelanetz conducting the San Diego Symphony with guest pianist David Bar-Ilan. The final concert will be held in Aztec Bowl, California State University, 8:30 p.m. Season ticket holders have already received their free reserved seats. Non-season ticket attendees will be seated on a first come basis. Ample free parking is also available for the concert.

Classroom Guarantee Offered By US Navy

Navy applicants who qualify but are not able to obtain a reservation for an advance school seat upon completion of recruit training, now will be guaranteed classroom opportunity within the first 19 months of their enlistment.

During the peak summer recruiting months, recruiters generally are able to enlist more applicants than there are openings in the advance schooling pipeline. Under the new "Programmed School Input" concept, a recruit can be guaranteed a specific school assignment of his choice upon completion of an initial duty assignment.

The program, similar to an active duty "Cache" program, is expected to open the opportunity of advance schooling to an additional 3,600 applicants.

Visibility Problems Pose Threat To Motorcyclists

Motorcycles — like little children — should be seen and not heard.

While the problems of rattling pipes and noisy mufflers might strike some as considerable, it is the visibility problems that pose the greatest danger.

A motorcycle study conducted by Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, along with data from the company's claims files, clearly show that in 70 per cent of accidents involving automobiles and motorcycles, the autoist simply did not see the cyclist in time to prevent the accident.

Roger H. Wingate, vice president and manager of Liberty's loss prevention department, explains why drivers have such difficulty seeing motorcycles. "To get a clear understanding, hold a pencil at arm's length," said Wingate. "That pencil will now complete an obscure a motorcycle approaching at a distance of 120 feet. A motorcycle travelling 30 miles per hour will take 2.7 seconds to cover 120 feet."

The most common type of automobile-motorcycle accident occurs when the two vehicles are travelling in opposite directions on the same road. The autoist turns left at an intersection or into a shopping center, moving across the lane of the cyclist. The driver of the car does not see the cyclist in time to react.

For his own sake, the automobile driver must respect a motorcycle as he would any other motor vehicle. He must allow proper following distance and not attempt to pass the cyclist on a single lane road where passing is not allowed. The car driver should be especially careful about making any turns across the oncoming lane of traffic.

One way the cyclist can help himself with the visibility problem is to use his headlight during the day as well as at night. A study by the Wisconsin Division of Motor Vehicles showed that 65 per cent of the cyclists felt that use of their headlight made them more visible in city traffic and 85 per cent felt the headlights helped in rural traffic. About 92 per cent of the autoists involved said motorcycle headlights helped the visibility problem in city traffic and 94 per cent said it was a definite aid in rural traffic.

Several states have already enacted legislation requiring headlight usage by motorcycles during daylight hours and many others are likely to follow suit.

A cyclist should ride just slightly to the left of center in his lane for two reasons. First, an oily residue tends to build up in the center of each lane. Second, he will be more visible in the side mirror to the car in front of him.

Solving the automobile-motorcycle safety problem has to be a two-way street. It requires an equal degree of safety awareness and decision driving on the part of the autoist as well as the cyclist.

Mobile Banking For Inland Communities

A new concept in banking is San Diego Federal's plan to serve Desert Hot Springs, Idyllwild, Rancho California and Borrego Springs with mobile savings and loan services, according to Gordon Luce, president of the firm.

The facility will be a 32.6 foot trailer which will oscillate between the four locations and serve its customers in four locations by oscillating between the four locations.

In each community the trailer will be insinuated into a handsome, permanent building which has been heavily landscaped. In the trailer will be necessary records and accessories for full operation. A senior staff will serve patrons. At the end of the banking day, the trailer will be towed out, to be in the permanent building in another community the next day.

Community Colleges Recognized Under Assoc. Name Change

The 52-year old American Association of Junior Colleges has recognized the community colleges by officially changing its name to the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges.

Membership in the national organization includes 724 publicly supported two-year colleges, most of which use the word "community" in their names, or in official statements of purpose. About 200 private "junior" colleges are also members of the association.

Changes in executive positions and responsibilities were also announced with the name change. Dr. Edmund J. Gleazer Jr., moves from executive director to president of the new organization responsible to the board of directors for G. Shannon, from associate executive director to senior vice president, long range planning and development.

In announcing the change Dr. Gleazer said, "Most two year colleges today are community oriented no matter what they call themselves. They have as their goal to put college within commuting distance of the total community."

"In fact," Dr. Gleazer added, "many journalists have dubbed the two-year institutions as people's colleges or democracies colleges. They have earned these labels by providing varied curriculums, both academic and job oriented, and by keeping direct costs to students at a minimum."

Today the community and junior colleges enroll more than 2,700,000 students. In California where the community college movement has become highly developed, more than half of all students in higher education start in the local institutions.

WINE SHOP — Bert Howard, left, regional director of Les Amis de Vin, a national wine appreciation society, compares his favorite with that of George Sperla, owner of Village Liquor and Wine Shop, formerly Village Liquor and Golf Shop. Featured at the shop are top California and imported wines, including several rare varieties. Sperla, who has studied wine appreciation under Howard for the past few years, recently completed re-designing his store to accommodate over 100 wines.

County Endowment Officer Seeks Donations of 'Items of Value'

"San Diego County has a five-year head start," declared R. R. McAuley in speaking of his unique position as the County's first Endowment Officer.

"Other local governmental agencies, cities, and counties in California will probably be adopting a similar position within the next decade," he said. "But as far as we can determine, no other county in the state has such an office or person at present." He equated his job with that of a university financial development officer who seeks contributions to a school's coffers or to its facilities.

"The major difference is that we are not looking just for cash or trust funds," he said. "We envision a broader scope of contributions which we have labeled 'items of value'. These items may very well be a cash endowment, but also include real estate, historical buildings and memorabilia, or what-have-you."

McAuley said that people donate items of value for one of two reasons; either they wish to preserve the item for posterity or the item is no longer of value to the possessor; but he is usually interested in obtaining benefits from the item.

"In the first instance," said McAuley, "we are talking about heirlooms, land, and buildings, mostly. Apparently the best way to hold an item intact for future generations is to put it in the public domain."

"In the second instance, the item of value has to be useful to the county. Then a program of acquisition must be started that covers legal ramifications and is mutually attractive."

"These items could be such mundane things as trees. A County park might want a specimen tree that a property owner must move. To him it represents so much firewood at $50 a cord, but to the county it might carry a value twice to three times that. If he donates it, it might carry a Federal income tax relief benefit far in excess of the going rate for firewood — and the county, too, saves that amount of the taxpayers' dollar."

At top priority right now are Western and Indian artifacts for display at the reconstruction of the Butterfield Stagecoach Station in Vallecito County Park on Highway S-2. The planned small museum there can use early-day relics such as Concord stages, wagons, household items, firearms, beads, pottery, and arrowheads.

Display cases, electrical hook-ups, and a knowledgeable staff are already at the park and ready to go as soon as contributions come in.

A second major item on McAuley's "shopping list" is a land fill of 50,000 cubic yards of dirt at Heritage Park in Old Town. The fill is required to even the grade at the site of the Gilbert House and other period buildings.

"Rather than an outright gift, a donation of fill dirt to the county carries a dollar value which is tax deductible. The contractor gets rid of unwanted dirt; the county completes the park. The contractor takes advantage of the tax break; the county can use the dollar value of the fill as matching funds for a Federal Grant," stated McAuley. "In other words, this is a sort of back door revenue sharing."

Also in the planning stage are tax shelter endowments for land owners. It has been

University Of Cal. Changes Requirements

A change in the admissions requirements by the University of California will make it easier for Grossmont College students to transfer to the university starting in the fall, 1973. The new admissions policy reduces the present entrance requirements from a 2.4 grade point average to 2.0.

In a letter to Grossmont College President, Erv F. Metzgar, Lyle C. Gainsley, director of admissions and University of California registrar, stated that the new requirements will apply only to California residents and will be effective for those applying for enrollment during the fall quarter, 1973.

Gainsley said, "students who were ineligible for admission as freshmen may be admitted to the University of California after they have established a grade point average of 2.0 in 56 semester units of college credit that is transferable to the university. Upon completion of this work, all subject and scholarship deficiencies in the student's high school record, will be disregarded."

Village Liquor, Wine Shop Opens In Lemon Grove

Lemon Grove's first wine shop is open.

George Sperla, owner of Village Liquor and Wine Shop at 7779 Broadway, has made his business a wine shop, featuring top California wines, as well as a good supply of fine imported wines.

The new Village Liquor and Wine Shop, after remodeling, includes more than an entire wall of top burgundies, red and white wines. A complete line of glassware as well as an expanded liquor department round out the shop.

The selection of the wines which are now on the shelves was made by Sperla, along with Bert Howard, regional director of the Les Amis du Vin society, a national wine society.

Howard, instructor of wine appreciation with the University of California at San Diego Extension, first interested Sperla in wines about four years ago when the local businessman enrolled in one of his classes.

Sperla became involved in the serious study of wines about two years ago, and recently decided to re-arrange his store.

A list of over 500 top California and imported wines was prepared, and after much deliberation, was whittled down to the current selection now offered at the shop. Those wines not one shelves can be ordered.

Included are some California wines that no other shops in the county offer, Sperla said. He also has many of the popular inexpensive wines.

Howard, who was in Lemon Grove last week for Sperla's grand opening, offered some interesting tips on purchasing wine.

Red wines, he said, are usually best after aging, while white wines are often best young. There are exceptions, however, such as port, which is a dessert wine that ages well.

Dated wines are not always top quality, even within a particular brand. Since the quality of the wine depends greatly on the grapes from which it is made, poor weather during a given year could result in a poor vintage.

Wines which are not dated are often made of grapes grown in different years, which is not necessarily bad. Excellent grapes from a past year can be added to a less desirable crop to create a good wine. Through that process, a uniformity of quality can be created, while vintage wines may be more erratic.

Howard also noted differences between local and imported wines.

California wines, which are often superior to imported wines carrying the same price, aren't regulated like some imports. For instance, in France, a burgundy can't be labeled a burgundy unless it is made from at least 70% Pinot Noir grapes, while in California, other grapes can be used.

The label on a bottle plays an important role, as it can offer information on which grapes have been used for that particular wine. Pinot Noir grapes are used often in local burgundies, and that fact is usually noted on the label.

When looking for imported wines, Howard said, always shop for bargains. For instance, if you find a particularly low price, the price may not be an indicator of the quality of the wine.

Often, a $2 bottle will contain wine that is superior to a bottle costing $6 or $7.

The best way for anyone to determine the best wine for himself, Howard said, would be to experiment with different types. If the wine shop operator gets an idea of a person's taste, he can be of great assistance.

Sperla, after his study, is trained to help customers with selections, as is store manager Paul Seeley.

Mayvin Meyers Takes Vows

Miss Mayvin L. Myers and Patrick McMillan exchanged wedding vows July 24 at the First United Methodist Church of Chula Vista. Rev. Wayne Ulrickson officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Myers of San Diego. McMillan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Major McMillan of Chula Vista.

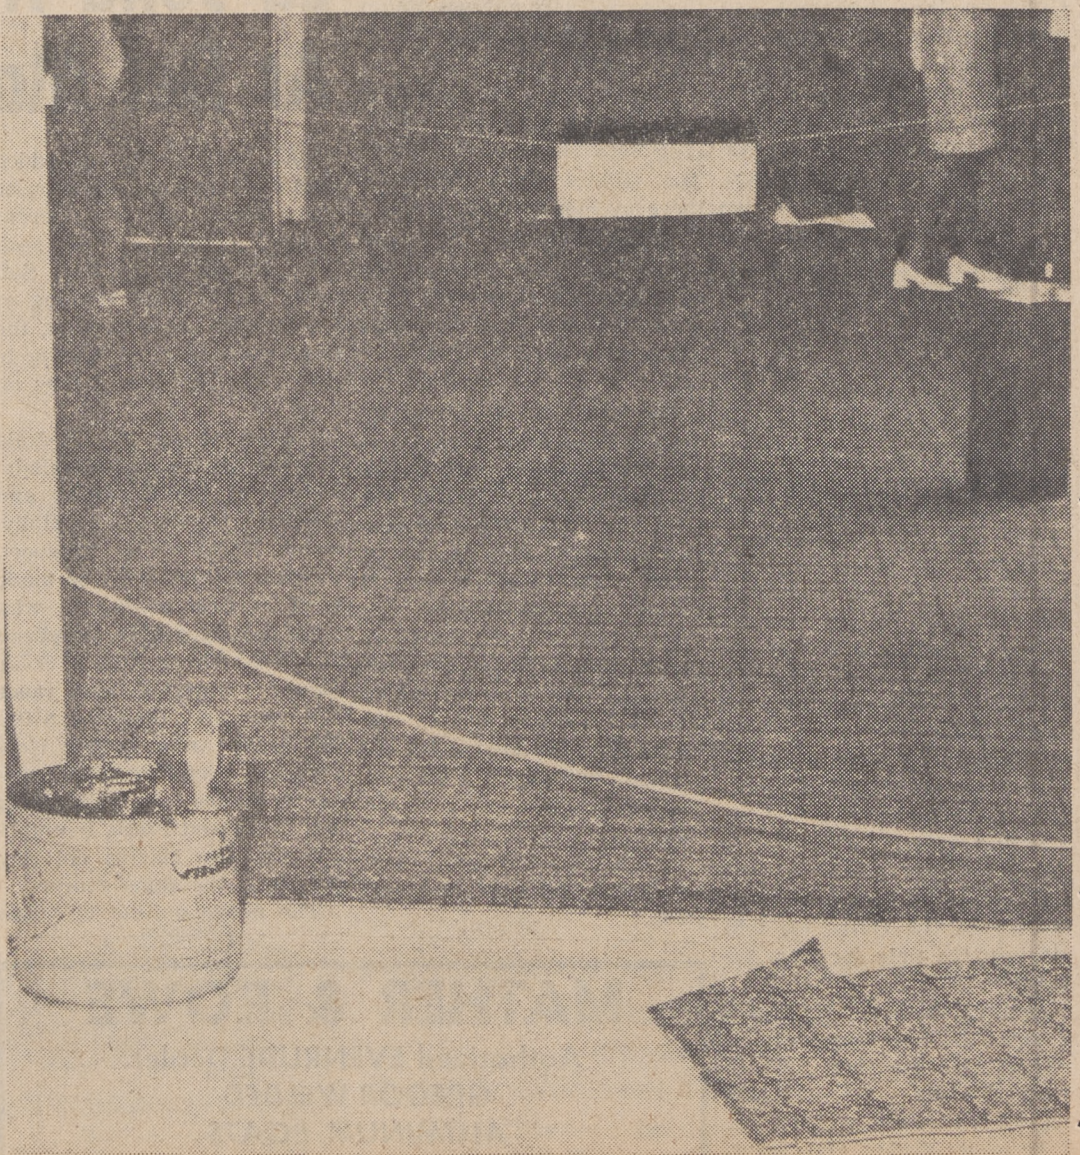

The reception was held at the church, for 100 guests. As the bride and groom left the reception, guests tossed a rainbow of colored rice at them.

A buffet dinner was held, at the Myers home, for out of town relatives and friends.

The newlyweds will reside in San Diego, following their honeymoon in San Francisco. Mrs. McMillan was Miss Lemon Grove in 1969.

NEW LOOK — The "new look" of the Lemon Grove Post Office includes carpeting for the lobby and imitation grass in front. The work was done last week after Postal Service funds were allocated for the job. While the carpet won't speed the mails or insure that a letter won't get lost or placed in the wrong mailbox, it is a little easier on the feet of those who stand in long lines to mail packages or use other postal services.

Olson Gets Planetarium Director Job

Jon R. Olson has been appointed to the position of Planetarium Director at Southwestern College for the 1972-73 school year. He will oversee the daily elementary school presentations, as well as the Thursday evening public lecture series.

Olson attended San Diego State University, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in physics and an Associate of Arts degree in Engineering. He taught three years at SDSU prior to joining the faculty at Southwestern 3 years ago. He is a member of the Sigma Pi Sigma Gamma Sigma honor societies and the Astronomical Society of the Pacific.

Ken Clawson will be the new Assistant Planetarium Director, and will present evening lectures for the public. Clawson also attended San Diego State University where he received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Astronomy and a Masters Degree in Philosophy and later did graduate work at Northwestern University in Illinois.

A planetarium brochure is being prepared for mailing to members of the community which gives detailed information on each evening lecture to be presented for the coming year.

Policewomen on Traffic Beat

San Diego Police Chief R. L. Hoobler announced this week the assignment of two Policewomen to a uniformed division of the department.

Policewomen Barbara Montgomery and Doris Johnson have been assigned to the traffic bureau and have been undergoing advanced training covering all phases of traffic enforcement.

They will be the second officer in a patrol car and their duties will include investigation of traffic accidents, issuance of traffic citations, making arrests where necessary and also directing traffic. "For the first time in the history of the San Diego Police Department, women are in uniform and working in the field alongside their male counterparts," Hoobler said.

In the past women on the department traditionally have been assigned to the investigations division and worked in plain clothes as investigators with assignments in such areas as Juvenile, Sex Crimes, and Forgery.

Record Enrollment To Cause Shortage Of College Housing

An anticipated record enrollment for the Fall 1972 semester at Grossmont College is expected to result in an acute housing shortage for students attending the college. The expected shortage of suitable student housing will affect both students from outlying parts of the Grossmont Community College District who want to maintain their own residences.

According to Dean of Student Activities John Burdick, persons having rooms or apartments available are urged to call the Student Activities Office at the college, 465-1700, Ext. 266, during normal business hours. Information on the housing offered will be accepted and compiled for interested students to inspect.

"Grossmont College assumes no liability for off-campus housing either to the students or to the landlords," Dean Burdick said. "The Student Activities Office is simply an agency for collecting housing information maintained as a service to our students and community."

Census Bureau Plans Survey In This Area

A number of households in this area will take part in a nationwide survey on employment and unemployment to be conducted the week of August 14-18 by the Bureau of the Census, C. Michael Long, Director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in Los Angeles, announced.

The survey is taken monthly by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor. The households interviewed are scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all households.

Statistics on conditions in the labor force from month to month provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the country. In June, for example, the Nation's unemployment rate dropped to 5.5 percent. The decline, from 5.9 percent in May, brought the jobless rate to its lowest level in more than a year and a half.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is held confidential by law and is used only to compile statistical totals.

County Endowment Officer Seeks Donations of 'Items of Value'

proposed that citizens could deed their property, suitable for any of a multitude of purposes, to the County of San Diego, and live on a portion of the land for the balance of their lives without paying property taxes.

McAuley said that such land might be desirable for a small park, for open space, for a sanitary land-fill, or almost any other use which would benefit the people of the county.

Heritage Park, itself, is in

The temperature, after touching 99 degrees three times in a week, was a little milder than last week's but it was still unseasonably warm.

Hopes were given a lift when raindrops fell Sunday — although the drizzle lasted hardly more than a few seconds. The rain was not measurable.

need of more houses and other buildings reminiscent of a nostalgic era. Then, once the edifices are in place, contemporary furnishings will be required, too.

"The immediate needs of the County make it sound as if the job of Endowment Officer is tied to museums. In reality, these requirements are short-range. The eventual goals are more closely related to taxes, revenue sharing, and other financial aspects," he said.

"The Parks and Recreation Department of the State of California has the only other endowment officer that we know of on the West Coast who is working for a governmental agency, so we are sort of patterning our early operations after his to gain experience."

McAuley was hired into his position in November, 1971, after First District Supervisor Jack Walsh envisioned that such a role would be beneficial to the county.

With a background of 16 years in university financing, McAuley's application was accepted over almost 50 others. He is assigned to the staff of the Public Works Agency Administrator David K. Speer.

McAuley invited inquiries about county endowments. He can be reached at the County Operations Center, 5555 Overland st., or by calling 278-9200, extension 503.

Beamon, holder of the Olympic long jump record of 29' 2 1/2" will be among the participants in the activities of Olympic Salute Day, of which Rana is chairman. The salute to San Diego Olympic stars of the past and present will feature a special race at Del Mar in the afternoon; a dinner at San Diego Stadium in the evening; and a pre-game program before the Padre-Dodger game in the evening. Kenton Lint To Chair Conservation Convention

Kenton C. Lint, curator of birds at the San Diego Zoo and president of the Whooping Crane Conservation Assn., will chair that group's annual convention next month in Regina, Saskatchewan.

The 1,000-member body will meet Sept. 18-20 at Regina's Museum of Natural History to review progress in preserving the rarest of North American birds and to discuss conservation measures for the future.

"This is the first meeting of the group to be held in Canada," Lint said, "and the site was chosen because of the possibility of sighting whooping cranes during their migration from their summer home in Wood Buffalo National Park, Alberta, to their winter quarters in the Aransas Wildlife Refuge on the Texas Gulf Coast."

During the course of the convention, the group plans field trips to Last Mountain Lake 60 miles northwest of Regina, where one or two whoopers are sometimes seen among the thousands of smaller sandhill cranes frequenting that area during their fall migration.

Lint said that well-known authorities on the whooping crane will speak at the three-day meeting. They include Ernie Kuyt of the Canadian Wildlife Service, who is responsible for research at the whoopers' nesting grounds; and association secretary Jerome J. Pratt of Arizona. Lint will also address the group regarding the San Diego Wild Animal Park.

Lint added that the world's total whooping crane population has risen to 59 wild birds at present, from a low of 15 in 1941 when an active campaign to save the huge birds was initiated. There are 21 additional whoopers in captivity at present. Whooping cranes teetered on the brink of extinction throughout the first half of the 20th century due chiefly to hunting. Their condition is still considered precarious, but improving.

The slow increase in population over the last several decades is due, Lint said, to joint efforts by the Canadian Wildlife Service, U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service, the Western Provinces Dept. of Natural Resources, and the National Audubon Society, as well as the Whooping Crane Conservation Assn.

Grossmont Board Adopts Slashed Budget

The Grossmont Community College Board of Trustees Monday night adopted a "skeleton" budget of $10.3 million, which, according to district superintendent Robert Burnham, could make the school a "second rate institution."

Trustees were presented two budgets by Burnham, one a $10.7 million document which would have raised district taxes by 19.4 cents to 90.3 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Trustees, however, balked at hiking taxes that far, and approved the slimmed down model, which included a reduction of $300,000 from instruction and another $100,000 from the district's reserves.

The approved budget will mean an increase of about 11.6 cents to 82.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Following the budget hearing, trustees went into executive session for the purpose of hiring a vice-president to replace Dr. Joseph Malik, who resigned recently to take a position as president of a four-year school.

After the executive session, Trustees announced that Mrs. Trudy Hill, who has been a member of the faculty at Grossmont since the college opened in 1961, would take over the position. Mrs. Hill was previously chairman of the school's math department.

Sups Hold Up OK On CPO Approval

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The County Board of Supervisors Tuesday voted to hold up approval of a new joint powers agreement that would create an independent CPO staff and give CPO power to accept money and pay bills.

But the Board approved the creation of an Office of Transportation and Land Use within the county structure.

The Board also agreed to place a $20 million bond issue on the November ballot the proceeds of which will be used for park acquisition and development.

Lowrey said the reduction is due to attendance being less than expected. He said that days at Lake Morena are quite warm, although the nights are cool. Lower Otay weather is related to that of the coast.

Boys Play Ping Pong For Over 40 Hours

After wearing out a dozen ping-pong balls and downing numerous soda pops, hamburgers, and pieces of chicken, two Spring Valley youngsters took a rest Sunday, after claiming the town record for ping-pong playing.

The youngsters, Greg Hall, 14, of 10062 Casa Nueva st., and Roger Price, 15, of 1605 Whitestone rd., fell a wee bit short of the world record when they stopped playing after 40 1/2 hours. The world mark is over 400 hours.

The Spring Valley ping-pong kings started playing Friday afternoon, finally calling it quits Sunday.
